DENARK CONSTRUCTION, INC. ANNOUNCES EXPANDED ROLE FOR ONE OF ITS KEY EXECUTIVES

KNOXVILLE, TENNESSEE - Denark Construction, Inc., a Knoxville-based Construction Company, announced today that the firm has expanded the role of Allan Cox to include leading our business development efforts for the company.

"Allan has had an extremely positive impact on our business since he joined the company two years ago," said Raja Jubran, CEO of Denark Construction, Inc. "Because of his professional experience and his knowledge of the East Tennessee region, Allan will enhance our business development efforts and allow us to maintain our high level of quality client service."

Cox will continue serving in his current capacity on some of our major work, the most recent being the new $45 million Knoxville News-Sentinel headquarters, the $5 million Knox Area Rescue Ministries project and the $2.6 million Seymour Heights Christian Church. Other clients he has served include Stowers Machinery, Malibu Boats, Takoma Pediatric Clinic and Mountain Lakes Credit Union. Prior to joining Denark, Allan served as vice president and partner of Bullock Smith & Partners, Inc. where he managed such projects as the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame in Knoxville and the Coca-Cola Olympic City in Atlanta.

Cox serves on the boards of directors of the American Red Cross, the Board of Advisors for UT's College of Architecture and Design. He is president-elect for the Knoxville Breakfast Rotary Club and a member of the Leadership Knoxville Class of 2002.

Denark Construction, Inc. is a full-service general contractor / design-builder / construction manager with over a half billion dollars in commercial, industrial and institutional construction contracted, since its launch in 1985. At present, it enjoys over $172 million work-in-progress including Knoxville's Convention Center and the new plant/editorial headquarters for The Knoxville News-Sentinel.
